Investment Philosophy and	l Objectives
Describe the Investment Philosophy	HCM's value investment philosophy is to invest in quality businesses that we believe have sustainable competitive advantages, at times when markets have undervalued their shares relative to our established quantitative measures. We have deployed this discipline through multiple market cycles for over 25 years.
	HCM believes:
	 Companies with sustainable competitive advantages will outperform the broad market over time. Market volatility can be exploited to purchase companies at a discount to their fair market value. A consistent adherence to a discipline based on fundamental valuation techniques will produce results.
Describe the Investment Strategies	HCM delivers our value investment strategy across 3 portfolio concentrations and in a hedged equity portfolio.
5	The HCM value investment strategy invests primarily in U.S. stocks of businesses with market capitalization profiles of greater than $3 billion.
	The Hillman Advantage Value Equity Portfolio invests primarily in U.S. stocks of larger companies, with total positions of approximately 45 stocks. This portfolio is benchmarked against the Russell 1000 Value Index.
	The Hillman Focused Advantage Value Equity Portfolio invests primarily in U.S. stocks of larger companies, with total positions of approximately 20 stocks. This portfolio is benchmarked against the Russell 1000 Value Index.
	The Hillman Value Fund (HCMAX) invests primarily in U.S. stocks of larger companies, with total positions of approximately 30-40 stocks. This Fund is benchmarked against the Russell 1000 Value Index.
Describe the Investment Objectives	The objective of each of the HCM Value Portfolios is to deliver returns, utilizing a high active share construct, that meet or exceed the portfolio benchmark.
	There is no guarantee that the portfolio will outperform, or even match, the corresponding equity market over the long term. The portfolio may produce a level of tracking error relative to its benchmark that is consistent with a more active approach to investing in equities.

Investment Process

Describe the Investment Process

HCM's investment process combines clear qualitative and quantitative standards with a distinctly intuitive exploratory approach. We surface candidates for investment by searching across industries and markets, keeping both our eyes and minds open. We have no industry bias and build high "active share" portfolios of approximately 20 to 50 positions.

A. Universe Definition

All companies that trade directly on US exchanges with a market cap of 3 billion dollars or larger at the time of inclusion.

B. Establishing the HCM Qualified Universe (Bottom-Up Fundamental)

Qualitative Concerns

First, we analyze the factors contributing to a candidate company's sustainable competitive advantage, including:

- 1. Is the company an industry leader or does it dominate a certain niche market?
- 2. Has management been prudent and proactive over various economic cycles?
- 3. Does the company have pricing power with customers?
- 4. Does the company have purchasing power with suppliers?
- 5. Do barriers to entry exist for prospective competitors?
- 6. Does the company have a strong brand/franchise with brand loyalty?
- 7. Does the company deliver excellent products or services?
- 8. Does the company provide outstanding customer service?
- 9. Does the company have enough financial flexibility to weather short term problems, an economic downturn or increased competitive pressures?

If a company possesses the correct blend of the above criteria, it is concluded that the company does maintain a sustainable competitive advantage and is added to the HCM Qualified Universe (currently 150-200 names).

C. Multi-Factor Valuation Ranking of HCM Qualified Universe

Executed across the HCM Qualified Universe from least expensive to most expensive.

*Important to Note: A name could qualify to be in the HCM qualified universe and never be included in an HCM portfolio, due to valuation considerations.

Valuation metrics utilized in ranking process:

- a. Discounted Cash Flow Model
- b. Price to Book
- c. Price to Sales

D. Portfolio Construction- Buy Discipline

The most attractively valued securities are included in each respective portfolio subject to concentration parameters.

E. Portfolio Constraints

Position sizes, rebalancing protocols, as well as industry and sector constraints are portfolio specific and highlighted below.

F. Sell Discipline

- a. Valuation exceeds 1% to 20% premium to the fair market value of the business.
- b. Portfolio diversification constraints are breached.
- c. Company no longer meets the criteria to be eligible for the HCM Qualified Universe.

- Positions
- Sector & Industry Weightings
- Re-balance Protocols
- Cash

- Sector & Industry Weightings No sector may represent more than 25% and no sub-industry more than 10% of total portfolio value at time of purchase.
- Re-balance Protocols Buy if position < 1.5% of total market value and Sell if position > 2.9% of total market value.

- Positions 20 securities are purchased in equal proportion, with each stock representing approximately 5% of portfolio value.
- Fewer positions may be held in the portfolio if a security is sold and no potential replacements are 20% or more below the HCM view of fair value. This situation typically does not persist for a lengthy time-period before the portfolio returns to the 20 position target.
- Sector & Industry Weightings No sub-industry may represent more than 25% of total portfolio at time of purchase.
- Re-balance Protocols Buy to 5% if position < 2.5% of total market value and Sell to 5% if position > 10% of total market value.

Hillman Value Fund (HCMAX):

- Positions Approximately 30-40 equity securities.
- Sector & Industry Weightings Generally speaking, no industry may represent more than 25% of total portfolio at time of purchase.

- ❖ It is possible for cash to move above normal levels when portfolio vacancies cannot be immediately filled due to HCM valuation parameters.

Describe the Sell Discipline

- 2. Sell all shares if the price of a security exceeds fair value using all quantitative measures.
- 3. Trim back position if risk parameters are exceeded.
- 4. Sell if portfolio diversification constraints are breached

What is the competitive edge/source of active value of investment philosophy and process?

HCM's "qualified" universe of companies deemed to have sustainable competitive advantage forms the bedrock of HCM's advantage over peers. By focusing FIRST on the identification of companies we believe have a sustainable competitive advantage, HCM identifies outstanding businesses, unbiased by current valuation. Thus, HCM believes the philosophy approaches qualitative analysis with an enhanced degree of objectivity. The universe of companies compiled, bottom-up analyzed company by company over 25 years, paired with a prudent valuation approach formulates the competitive advantage Hillman Capital Management aims to realize.

Investment Risk Management Describe your investment HCM takes four primary steps to manage portfolio risk: risk management process. Fundamental – The creation of HCM's Qualified Universe of investment candidates serves to keep the strategy focused on businesses that are more in control of their own destiny. A competitive analysis is conducted to identify industry leaders with financial flexibility and competitive advantages within their marketplace. We believe that investing exclusively in these types of businesses helps to mitigate risk. Valuation Discipline – By focusing on the businesses in the HCM Qualified Universe that are the most attractively valued for inclusion in a portfolio, HCM is building in a downside exposure risk metric. There is no guarantee that a name will not decline more in value, but by investing based on the discount to the fair market value of the business, HCM is managing that risk. Diversification – The strategies incorporate diversification limits at the sector, industry and security levels in the portfolio construction portion of the investment process. Sell Discipline – The ongoing investment process addresses security specific risk. A strict adherence to fundamental valuation parameters supports the downside risk management relative to holdings in the portfolio. A continuous review of the sustainability of the competitive advantage of a business and removal of businesses from the qualified universe when that advantage is no longer present may mitigate company specific risk. The final component within the sell discipline is the rebalancing of the portfolio preventing extremes in security, sector or industry weightings. How do you manage For HCM, volatility presents the opportunity to further invest or establish new positions in high quality portfolios during volatile businesses with competitive advantages that the market has mispriced, based on HCM's assessment. When the markets? mispricing is material, with the business trading below the HCM view of the fair market value, HCM will invest. Volatility often creates opportunities to trim positions and to realize gains when selling overvalued securities. HCM's Investment Committee exercises supervision and control over the investment management of all client Is there an independent risk committee for assets managed by HCM. The Committee approves all discretionary investment strategies (including related risk limits), delegates investment authority to designated Portfolio Managers, and monitors market, economic monitoring investment and geo-political developments to identify potential and emerging risks to HCM's value investment philosophy, risk and changing risk limits? process and strategies. The Investment Committee members include: Mark Hillman (Chair/CEO/CIO), Peter Beebe (President), Frank Watson (CCO) and Trevor Lee (Analyst). The Committee meets quarterly, or more often as necessary or appropriate. Describe any oversight HCM's Executive Committee provides oversight of the Firm's operations and policies. What types of orders are placed to initiate positions (e.g. market, limit, stops)?	Portfolio Managers determine the appropriate execution strategy for each position. Generally, HCM places its orders as market orders.
Do you perform an analysis of best execution?	HCM seeks to obtain the best reasonably available execution price, however the firm may not obtain the lowest commission or best net price on any particular transaction. Trades are allocated to broker-dealers in such a way as is considered in the best interest of clients. When given the opportunity to make brokerage determinations, HCM considers a number of judgmental factors, including, without limitation, clearance and settlement capabilities; quality of confirmations and account statements; the ability of the broker to settle the trade promptly and accurately; the financial standing, reputation and integrity of the broker-dealer; the broker-dealer's access to markets, research capabilities, market knowledge, any "value added" characteristics, the Company's past experience with the broker-dealer, past experience with similar trades, and other factors. Recognizing the value of these factors, HCM may pay a brokerage commission higher than that of another broker for effecting the same transaction.
	HCM reviews broker-dealer performance on a quarterly basis as part of HCM's ongoing review of brokerage for client accounts.

	We believe that compensation programs must be based on performance, with metrics and measurement periods tailored to the specific job, and not encourage excessive risk-taking. Our compensation programs emphasize 'total compensation' and incorporate a mix of compensation components, which we believe must be competitive to attract and retain qualified and productive employees.
